CEO'S message

Welcome to the Autumn edition of Grapevine.

I can't believe the year is nearly halfway through already.

With winter fast approaching, it's a good time to remind everyone not to forget your flu shots. Last year was a particularly bad flu season, and we are calling on the community to help make this year a better one. Vaccination is a safe and effective way to protect yourself from flu, but it also helps to protect other people, including vulnerable groups such as our residents. At Mayflower we offer free flu shots to all our staff and volunteers, and encourage anyone visiting relatives and friends at Mayflower to get one too. The health of our staff and residents is a major priority as we move into the flu season so we encourage you to take positive action and insure yourself against potential infection from the flu.

It continues to be a hive of activity here at Mayflower with the Rodda Dixon units at Brighton almost sold and Stage 1 of the Reservoir redevelopment about to commence in the second half of 2018. Mayflower is investing more than $25 million in the Reservoir redevelopment to create a new state-of-the-art 110 bed residential facility which is generating great excitement amongst staff and residents alike.

RODDA DIXON UNITS – ALMOST SOLD

Planning is also well underway for a major upgrade to Margaret Beynon House, our Memory Support Unit at Mayflower Brighton. This significant renovation project will result in an improved amenity for our residents offering refreshed bedrooms, additional lounge spaces and a vibrant dementia garden for residents to wander in and enjoy. It is envisaged that this project will commence in July and while there will be some disruption to residents, we are working diligently to ensure that this disruption is minimised while still delivering person centred care.

Our care teams have been busy too, working hard to deliver a wonderful range of social activities to stimulate and engage residents. In this edition you can read about special themed days, birthday celebrations, and adventurous outings. We've also shared some lovely resident life stories for your enjoyment – and I'm sure you will agree that we really are fortunate to be part of such a wonderful community at Mayflower.

As always, I hope you enjoy this edition of Grapevine.

Rosa Ginevra

Reservoir Redevelopment About to Commence

Mayflower is about to start the redevelopment of Mayflower Reservoir. The $25 million project will deliver a new, state-of-the-art aged care facility for 110 residents.

Mayflower is building the new facility in two stages so that current aged care residents can continue to live on the current site, in the same room, while the building takes place. Once the first stage of the new facility is complete, residents will move into their brand-new accommodation.

The new building will be designed to look and feel like a large house. Residents will live in small groups of 22 with each group having their own private spaces including a separate dining room, dedicated living area and garden space. The soft furnishings, floor coverings, window dressings and artwork will be carefully selected to feel homely, and residents will be encouraged to personalise their room.

When complete, residents will enjoy:

- Larger bedrooms, each with a private ensuite
- A dedicated hairdressing salon, library and quiet room
- A cinema room with comfortable chairs and a large screen
- Ample recreational space, including upper storey terraces overlooking the garden
- Four courtyards and landscaped perimeter gardens
- Dementia-friendly design across the entire building for residents with cognitive impairment
- More programs for residents from diverse cultures

Hawaiian Day

With the familiar strumming of ukuleles, joyous laughter, chinking of cocktail glasses, and Hawaiian hula dancing, you could very well be forgiven for thinking you have been whisked away to a Hawaiian island. For Mayflower Reservoir residents, it's another of their hugely anticipated specially themed days – and this time, the residents lounge room is full for 'Hawaiian Day'.

The themed days held monthly are aimed at giving residents the experience of different cultures and food from around the world. Hawaiian Day in March was aimed at giving the residents a feeling of being on a tropical oasis sipping cocktails and eating Hawaiian pizza while dancing the afternoon away listening to Hawaiian music replete with ukuleles.

The themed days are highly anticipated by the residents, who can provide input with their own ideas and advice with the planning. But it also allows them to reminisce about past experiences from travelling or going to the beach with friends and family.

The events are also a hit with Mayflower staff who all enjoy organising and hosting the themed days, and even performing for the residents. For Hawaiian Day, staff wore grass skirts and Hawaiian leis and performed dances including the Hawaiian Hula, encouraging the residents to get on their feet and have a little shimmy also.

Easter

The Mayflower Reservoir community enjoyed some Easter festive fun in April, getting together to design some crafty hats for their own Easter bonnet parade. Staff and residents got into the spirit of the celebration, with lots of dancing, laughter, and even an egg and spoon race.

Mayflower is committed to making every day better for our residents by providing genuine, personalised care and support that fosters individual cultural, religious and spiritual needs. Our residents are given the opportunity to celebrate Easter in a way that is meaningful to them, with services held for both Catholic Easter and Orthodox Easter.

During the Easter celebration residents were offered hot cross buns, chocolate Easter eggs, traditional Greek shortbread and dyed red eggs. Eggs have been associated with the Christian festival of Easter since the early days of the church. For Orthodox Christians the color red represents the blood of Christ, the shell symbolizes the Tomb of Christ, while the cracking of the eggs represents the resurrection.

Helen says staff enjoyed the day as much as the residents.

"Our residents really love seeing all the staff getting dressed up and giving it their all. And the staff loved being involved too. Some of our people even came to the facility in their own time to help make the day a success. I really can't thank the Reservoir staff enough for their participation and support in making events like these a success."

Ready, Set, GO

It was a lively day for all when residents came together for the Mayflower Reservoir Commonwealth Games. The special event coincided with the official 2018 Commonwealth Games, held on the Gold Coast in April, to give all residents a chance at winning gold. Events for the day included basketball, bowling, and a mini marathon, with residents, families and staff dressing up in hats and flags to represent their country of origin. Tensions were tight as residents gave it their all to win a coveted gold medal, but as the smiles shone through, it became clear that the friendship and comradery in this lovely community makes everyone a winner.

Wonderful Waterlilies

Five residents were quick to put up their hands up when they heard a bus trip was heading to the Blue Lotus Water Garden in April. The amazing gardens, located in Yarra Junction, cover over 14 acres and feature thousands of waterlilies, lotus and other exotic and rare flowering plants. With dozens of ponds and two lakes, connected by 15 ornate bridges, this was not an adventure for the faint hearted. Mayflower works hard to provide all residents with opportunities to access activities that stimulate body and mind. So, two staff from Mayflower's Aged Care facility in Reservoir were on hand to assist with wheelchairs, while the more ambulant residents made their own way around the grounds. A delicious lunch overlooking the Lotus lake topped off an invigorating day. The feedback from residents was overwhelming – they can't wait to go back again.

Macleod welcomes new residents

Mayflower Macleod welcomed 2 very well-travelled residents to its leafy village earlier this year, when Rex and Lorraine Marshall decided it was time to put down some roots after more than 12 years on the road.

This delightful couple, originally from Sydney, first met in school when Rex was one year ahead of Lorraine. But they didn't become sweethearts until a few years later when they were both volunteering for a group that provided support to disabled children. They have also both been volunteers in the fire brigade in Sydney and southern New South Wales.

Rex and Lorraine were married 1968, and will be celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary in May this year. They soon moved to Cudmirah which is located about 200kms south of Sydney near Nowra. Attracted to the idyllic lifestyle, Rex and Lorraine bought a brand-new house by the beach and will proudly tell you they were the 12th household to move into the area. In 1992 the travel bug took hold. By 2009 they took the bold decision to sell their home and dedicate all their time to travel. Rex says it's the best decision they ever made.

"We wanted to travel everywhere – and we did," says Rex. "We have been down every dirt track in Australia. The only exception is the Canning Stock Route which is only accessible via a very expensive organized tour."

Rex and Lorraine have covered more than 400,000 kms including:

- 3 trips around Australia
- 7 trips across the Nullabor
- 2 visits to Cape York (once by boat and once by 4WD)

They have also been to all the furthest points of Australia including Cockle (at the bottom of Tasmania in the South), Steep Point in Western Australia, Byron Bay in New South Wales, and Cape York in the Northern Territory.

One their favourite places is the Kimberley. Rex wittfully recalls travelling down the Gibb River Road and visiting Winjana Gorge National Park with hardly a person around.

"You could go 5 days and never see a soul."

Rex and Lorraine believe that having good health was key to safe travels. They had medical practitioners located across Australia, keeping an eye on them. Every year they would go to the doctor to have a thorough health check to help ensure they didn't get caught out the back of Bourke. Making new friends added to the experience, with Rex and Lorraine spending a lot of their time with friends they met along the way. Last year Rex and Lorraine decided it was time to put down some roots and chose Melbourne for their new home, so they could be close to family. In particular their 2 nieces as well as Rex's sister. Their friends were doing the same thing. Of the five close friends that they made, all have now decided that it's time to embark on a new stage of life.

"The number of grey nomads has increased dramatically over recent years, and it just wasn't the same anymore. The roads were getting more dangerous and the cost of travel was going up," says Rex.

"Fuel in the outback is very expensive now and mining has taken over many of the free campsites we used to visit so it was getting harder to find a spot outside of a caravan park." Rex and Lorraine moved to Mayflower Macleod in January. They had no furniture but were amazed to get a lock-up garage, as these were far and few between in other villages they visited. Rex says that they liked the village straight up, and are enjoying getting to know their neighbors.

Rex admits that both he and Lorraine are missing the travel, and staying in one place is going to take some getting used to. But they are very grateful that they have been able to experience a life most people only dream about, and enjoy it all together.

"We are happy. We have been all over the place and met some lovely people."

"We love Australia. We love everything about it. So many people travel overseas and have not taken the time to see the beauty in our own backyard."

Their only worry now is how to acclimatize to the chilly weather that's coming, as Rex and Lorraine are usually up north by now. In fact, this will be their first winter for 12 years. Rex says they need to get to the shops to update their wardrobe – he only has one pair of long pants.

Celebrating Valentine's Day in Style

As we celebrate Valentine's Day each year, we get to hear about our resident's stories of love and friendship. This year we talked to two very special couples living at Mayflower Brighton.

Childhood sweethearts

Neville and Betty Ridgeway are lifelong friends, having met when they were 12 years old. Neville, having taken a fancy to Betty, used to follow her home from school on his bike. He would then sit quietly outside her window, listening to the beautiful sounds of Betty playing piano. This was the start of an amazing and enduring friendship that blossomed into love and then marriage.

Neville and Betty married in 1950 at St Andrews church in Middle Brighton. They lived with Betty's parents for the first two years of marriage before building their family home in Hampton. They set up a dental practice shortly after, where they worked happily together until retirement, with Neville as the dentist and Betty as his assistant.

Neville and Betty are fortunate to have a large and loving family, with 4 children - Mark, Paul, Tony and Helen, 11 grandchildren and 3 great grandchildren.

Both Neville and Betty shared a lifelong love for adventure, from their early days as members of the 1st Hampton Scouts to flying around Australia in a small plane in 1974. It was the trip of a lifetime, taking three weeks to experience the many wonders this great country has to offer.

Betty has always supported Neville in anything he has chosen to pursue and feels her greatest achievement in life was to marry Neville. After 68 wonderful years together, Betty and Neville's secret for an enduring marriage is being supportive, working as a team and being flexible.

True love

Peter and Terryl Read have enjoyed a life of fun, friendship and good fortune, supporting each other on their adventure through life.

Peter met Terryl while she was working as a laboratory student at Melbourne University and Peter was studying science. Peter said he was first drawn to Terryl's beautiful brown eyes and lovely warm personality and the two of them fast became friends.

Two years later they made their romance official, getting married at the Melbourne Grammar Chapel in 1960, before moving into a tiny little flat in Queens Road, Melbourne.

Soon after, Terryl and Peter made the big decision to head abroad to the North of England which they remember fondly as a very special time in their lives. They lived life to the full, developed strong friendships, and marvelled at the miracle of life as they welcomed two wonderful sons into the world, first Nick and then Tom. In 1968 they returned to Australia and settled in Perth where they were blessed by a third son Charles. Terryl completed a degree as a teacher in special education, while Peter ran several companies up until retirement at 55.

Around this time, Terryl and Peter acquired a vineyard in the King Valley. Peter specialised in Italian, Spanish and French wines and supplied the Brown Brothers winery. Terryl continued working as a teacher in Melbourne until she was in her mid-sixties, travelling back and forth to their vineyard.

When they eventually felt it was time to slow down, Terryl and Peter sold the vineyard and bought a lovely holiday home in Oxley on around 7 acres. They later moved back to Melbourne and talk of the joys of living within 100 metres of the beach. Each morning Peter would walk along the beach with their dog, while Terryl enjoyed being part of a book club and reading plenty of books.

When asked what advice they have for younger couples, Terryl replies "Just being there for each other is important".

Ray Peak carries Queen's Baton

Our very own Mayflower Brighton resident, Ray Peak carried the Queen's Baton through Frankston City on Saturday 11 February 2018.

The Queen's Baton carries a message from Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II that calls the Commonwealth's athletes to come together in peaceful and friendly competition. When the Baton arrives at the Opening Ceremony on 4 April 2018, the Monarchy's message will be removed from the Baton and read aloud to declare the Gold Coast 2018 Commonwealth Games open.

When asked about carrying the Baton, Ray replied: "It was quite exciting! It was a bit of fun. I didn't know I was going to lead the march, but I did. I saw about 10 of my relatives there."

Ray was amongst eighteen legends from Melbourne's south east that were given the honour to carry the Baton across Frankston City. When asked how he was nominated he replied, "My family were contacted to do it and they accepted on my behalf. It was an honour! There were only two of us from the Mt Martha area."

When asked about his life achievements, Ray responds, "one of my achievements was founding the Mt Martha cricket club and being able to play sport for a long time."

A keen sportsman

Ray has had an amazing life centred around family and community. His two favourite sports are cricket and golf. But it was through his love of cricket that led him to becoming the founder of the Mount Martha Cricket Club where he played for many, many years as a wicket keeper.

Born in Northcote, Victoria, Ray was one of three boys. His father, Victor, was born in Australia, whereas his mother, Aani, was born in England. Ray went to Northcote high school in Victoria and was in junior athletics and played Australian Rules football for the Thornbury club. When he left school, Ray worked for the State Electricity Commission, and later at IBM where he helped run the bureau.

A true family man

At the age of 23, Ray married an English girl called Josephine whom he met at a church dance. They moved to Boronia and had two children, Anthony John and Karin. Ray and Josephine became grandparents when their son Anthony John had a daughter called Cyd. Ray lights up when he talks of his family, and how his children and grandchildren are the most important people in the world.

In the early years, Ray and Josephine travelled regularly to the USA, Bali and Canada for holidays. Ray served in the RAAF but also found the time to train German Shepherds. Sadly, Josephine passed away around 19 years ago.

In 2017, Ray moved into Mayflower Brighton's residential aged care accommodation and enjoys having a beer or wine at happy hour. He loves reading Western novels and going to the cinema located in Mayflower. Ray is often found outdoors on the patio enjoying his beer or wine and reflecting on his love for sport.

We are very happy for Ray and to see him recognised for his achievements and to be able to represent the Frankston area during a very prestige event in carrying the baton for the Commonwealth Games in 2018.

Australia Day Honours for Beryle Foster OAM

Congratulations to Mayflower resident, Beryle Foster, who received an Order of Australia (OAM) medal on Australia Day for service to women in Victoria. In the Australian honours system, appointments to the Order of Australia confer the highest recognition for outstanding achievements and service.

Beryle is a fiercely proud Australian, having joined the WAAF when she was just 18, and serving her country from early 1944 until 1946. Beryle worked as a clerk in the headquarters office of No.5 Operations Training Unit which was led by Wing Commander W.E. Townsend. He was a highly decorated pilot who returned from England after the Battle of Britain.

In 1947 Beryle married the love of her life, a wonderful man named Tom. Together they moved to a farm along the Murray River on the NSW side about 20 minutes out of Swan Hill. They were blessed with 5 beautiful children including twins, where one later went on to have her own twins. Sadly, Tom passed away when he was only 66 years old, after 42 wonderful years of marriage.

Beryle has generously given her time over the years, serving in numerous community organisations including the Country Women's Association, the National Council of Women in Victoria, the League of Women Voters, Penguin Club, her local church as well as the first female Councillor on the Swan Hill City Council from 1969-1972.

At age 45 Beryle was presented to the Queen and Prince Phillip in Swan Hill, but her OAM is one of her happiest moments.

"I have been very proud of my achievements and the awards that I have received over the years, but I am absolutely humbled and overjoyed to have been nominated and awarded the Order of Australia Medal (OAM)" said Beryl.

"I am not sure who nominated me but a big thank you to the Governor and everyone else for this wonderful honour bestowed upon me. I have had many calls congratulating me for which I am extremely thankful. I thank you all from the bottom of my heart. I feel blessed to have lived such a full and rich life and I have so much to look forward to in the future."

Everyone at Mayflower is absolutely thrilled to see Beryle receive her Order of Australia Medal in recognition of her achievements throughout her amazing life. We have listed them below along with her awards and feel honoured to have Beryle in the Mayflower community.

SUNNY OUTLOOK & SCRABBLE

birthday

Mayflower resident Nessie Kluckhenn is just a year shy of joining Australia's growing list of supercentenarians (that's the 110+ club for those unfamiliar with the term).

The fiercely competitive Scrabble enthusiast celebrated her 109th birthday with family, friends, and cake on Easter Sunday.

Born in 1909, Nessie grew up in Glasgow, experiencing a tough childhood as the oldest of seven during the First World War.

She is happy to chat eagerly about her stint as a nanny to a wealthy family in 1920s New Mayflower Brighton was a sea of green as residents came together to celebrate St Patrick's Day. Saint Patrick's Day, or the Feast of Saint Patrick, is held on the 17 March each year, and serves as a tribute to Ireland and its foremost patron saint.

The day is enjoyed around the globe with people dressing in green and displaying shamrocks.

Our aged care residents kicked up their heels with St Patrick's Day festivities taking place at a special themed happy hour. The resident lounge sparkled with Irish fortune, with Irish hats, shamrocks and green lemonade setting the scene for merriment. Everyone got into the spirit of the day, dressing in green and kicking up their heels to the delightful sounds of traditional Irish folk music from entertainer Les.

York where she witnessed the collapse of Wall Street and Charles Lindbergh's historic flight over the Atlantic in 1927.

A hard worker all her life, Nessie took a job with British Railway during the Second World War, before emigrating to Australia shortly after, where she and her husband picked up a block of land in Coburg for about 50 pounds.

Nessie believes moving to Australia was the best thing they ever did.

Her tips for a happy life include a sunny outlook and she is quick to share her motto: "Don't grieve too long, everything passes."

These days she is quite partial to bingo and Scrabble, clearly a great prescription for those looking to make it well past their hundredth year.

Green for a day

Archibald Exhibition

Twenty-seven Brighton ILU residents enjoyed a fabulous trip to Geelong to view the Archibald Exhibition in December. First awarded in 1921, the Archibald Prize is Australia's favourite art award, and one of its most prestigious. Awarded to the best portrait painting, it's a who's who of Australian culture, with subjects often including politicians, celebrities, sporting heroes, authors and artists. The annual trip to visit the exhibition has quickly become a favourite event on the ILU social calendar, with residents enjoying the opportunity to get to know each other better over a lovely lunch, along with the gallery tour.

Garden Delight

ILU resident, Alan Wood was excited at the prospect of rolling up his sleeves and getting his hands good and dirty, when Mayflower located a set of planter boxes in the garden near his apartment. Alan tended carefully to his vegetable seedlings over the summer months to deliver a wonderful selection of beautiful fresh produce for residents to share and enjoy including crisp leaves of lettuce, silver beet, juicy ripe tomatoes, corn and beans. The geraniums in another planter box have also enjoyed his magic touch, flourishing under his care as a picture of colour. Now the weather has turned colder, Alan is busy replanting the vegetable planter boxes with a new winter crop, to the delight of everyone around.

Autumn High Tea

The Brighton ladies were dressed to impress when they visited the Westin for Autumn High Tea last month. There was a special buzz in the air as they all headed to the heart of the CBD to enjoy the atmosphere of one of Melbourne's most luxurious hotels. This first-class high tea included three tiers of seasonal treats, handcrafted on-site by the Westin's talented culinary team, and served alongside the world's finest tea and coffee blends. The ladies were delighted, rating it as one of their favourite outings so far.

Brighton Balcony Garden Makeover

Mayflower Brighton is about to commence a major makeover of the balcony garden on the second floor of the Rennolds Building.

The aim is to provide a quiet and calming outdoor environment that also stimulates the mind and senses. This area will offer residents a place to relax with family and friends or just enjoy quiet contemplation.

The new balcony garden is expected to feature a combination of edible and sensory plants including espaliered fruit trees, miniature fruit trees and herbs, as well as scented magnolia's, lavender, rosemary, gardenia, jasmine and wax flowers.

We are also hoping to install new awnings on the balcony to provide some welcome shade during the hotter months, but also allow the sun to sparkle through when the days get shorter.

We have some funds already allocated to this project from previous donations, but we need more help. As a not-for-profit charitable organisation, Mayflower relies on the financial support of our donors to help us deliver first class services and care to our residents. So please dig deep, so we can continue to deliver care without compromise.
